Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 4 is vague and indefinite what structure is intended by "two tabs".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5,6-8,10-11 and 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Borkenstein (USP 4,080,170).

Borkenstein teaches a test device and kit for the collection of breath alcohol samples. Cartridge(10) includes tube(12) that has opening(13) and outlet(14). Disk(16) is placed over the outlet(14). A portion of filter paper(18) is placed against the disk(16) and retains calcium sulfate particles(19) at one end of the cartridge(10). Another portion of filter paper(20) is positioned at the other end of the calcium sulfate(19) so that the calcium sulfate is immobilized between the two portions of filter paper(18,20). Paper(20) is held in the cartridge(10) by spring clip(21).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 1743

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 6, 9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Borkenstein in view of Paul (USP 4,740,475).

See Borkenstein supra.

See Paul supra.

Art Unit: 1743

Borkenstein is silent to the tube being made of glass and providing covers for the ends of the tubes.

Paul teaches a kit for the determination of an analyte. Figure 1 teaches a breath alcohol-testing unit(10) containing granular potassium dichromate reagents(13). Porous retainer means(14) are positioned within the testing unit and contain the reagents. Paul teaches the tube containing the reagent can be made of glass and the device is placed in a covered container.

It is well known that glass is an advantageous material of construction because it is inexpensive, easily shaped, inert and lightweight. Further, it is advantageous to have a cover to close the ends of a device to prevent contaminants from interfering with the reagents.

It would have been within the skill of the art to modify Borkenstein in view of Paul and construct the tube from glass and to provide caps to gain the above advantages.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Farnsworth et al. teach a reagent sandwiched between two pieces of filter paper that is placed in a test tube. This reference fails to teach use of spring to hold the filter paper over the reagent.
